

such things as the testimony of an eyewitness who personally observed the fact in question or a photograph or document showing the actual thing described.

Circumstantial evidence consists of proof of a series of facts or circumstances from which the existence or nonexistence of another fact may be reasonably inferred. (Example: rain on the pavement.)

The law makes no distinction between the weight to be given to direct and circumstantial evidence. However, it does require that any fact required to convict a Defendant be proved beyond a reasonable doubt.

Conduct of Court - General

As I have said before, it is up to you to determine the facts in this case. You should not interpret anything I have said or done during this trial as expressing an opinion on my part as to what the facts in this case are. I have not intended to express any such opinion and you should not be concerned about what my opinions might be regarding the facts. That is a matter for you to decide.

Objections by Counsel

During this trial there have been occasions when the attorneys have objected to a question that was asked of a witness. You should not penalize an attorney, or more importantly, his client, for objecting. It is the attorney's right and duty to protect the client's interests by objecting to what the attorney may believe is evidence that does not satisfy the requirements of the rules of evidence.
