

Copy of Instructions

I have instructed you on the law that governs your deliberations. As I mentioned at the beginning, I will send into the jury room a written copy of my instructions. You are reminded, however, that the law is as I have given it to you from the bench; and the written copy is merely a guide to assist you.